2021 Conference Program

8.00 - 8.30	Registration
8.30 - 8.40	Welcome	Naomi Murphy
8.40 - 9.40	Maintaining Relevant Libraries There's simply nothing engaging about an aisle! Shelving must act as virtual room dividers that separate innovative learning spaces, whilst actively 'selling' collections. Kevin Hennah's results back up his ideas. Jam-packed with inspirational photographs, Kevin's opening presentation will deliver highly practical advice on how to ensure school libraries build usage stats and maintain relevance through innovative layout, signage, and promotion	Kevin Hennah
9.45 - 10.45	How Teacher Librarians Can Support Scientific Research Skills Literacy skills are fundamental to senior sciences, and can be introduced early to support students interested in or planning to study sciences. Learn about best practice in the presentation of varied scientific publications used by professional scientists, and how we can introduce literacy skills to our students	Gurion Ang
10.45 - 11.15	Morning Tea and Trade show	Trade Tables
11.15 - 12.00	Children's Literature Exploring current trends for readers of all ages	Pauline McLeod
12.00 - 12.45	Discovering a 'Good Read': Pathways to Reading for Australian Teens In this session, Michael Dezuanni from QUT will provide an overview of a national research project that is investigating how teens discover books to read and he will outline how schools can get involved. This will be followed by a brief presentation in which Michael shares initial findings from an investigation of how teens are discovering books in the digital environment. He will share how digital platforms like YouTube, Instagram, Tik Tok and even Minecraft are sites of book culture	Michael Dezuanni
12.45 - 1.45	Lunch and Trade show	Trade Tables
1.45 - 2.00	QSLA news and presentations TL of the Year and Principal Award	QSLA Rep
2.00 - 3.00	Inspired Learning Spaces Flexible learning spaces that integrate technology and offer seating that meets diverse needs are central to Kevin's advice on why school libraries must deliver a point of difference over classrooms. It is simply not enough to replicate what exists elsewhere or what we have delivered in the past. To bolster his advice on reinvigorating the image of school libraries, Kevin also promises to deliver plenty of impressive and contemporary ideas on budget makeovers.	Kevin Hennah
3.00 - 3.20	State Library Brisbane City Council Libraries	Jo-Anne Hine BCC Rep
3.20 - 3.30	Prizes and Wrap Up (feedback – survey)	Naomi Murphy
